Dear Frank:

I was sorry to hear that you have a heavy cold and will not be able to keep our date tomorrow morning at the Helderbergs. This time of year is bad for colds and almost everyone I know has one including Mrs. Barbeau and two of the kids. I hope you will be feeling well soon. We will defer the trip until you are in position to go.

Meantime, I must get away to the west tonight. I had deferred this trip so that I would be on deck Thursday with you. But its quite all right since I was fortunate enough to get a lower berth tonight on the Wolverine. I'll be away until probably Sunday and if I get in by that time I will contact you Monday or Tuesday.

I tried reaching Mr. Kampf to tell him of our change in plans but could not raise him at his office or home. You probably will telephone him yourself.

I do hope you will snap out of your cold quickly. They are miserable things.

Sincerely,
